

DANA VOLLMER

SEVEN-TIME OLYMPIC MEDALIST

DANA VOLLMER

TO THE POWER OF MOM

ABOUT DANA

Dana is one of the most gold-medaled female USA Olympians of all-time, currently ranked fourth. Throughout her incredible accomplishments she has endured challenges from injuries to big life changes like becoming a mom. Dana is passionate about connecting with and empowering other women. She is highly active, traveling around the world to train, teach, and speak. She engages with her following through social media and loves every face-to-face opportunity she can get to connect with a fan. You can find her in the pool training for Tokyo 2020, at home chasing her 2 boys and English bulldog around, or on a stage speaking to women about how being a mom isn't a limitation, it's a power, and the power multiplies infinitely when moms join together.

#MOMMAONAMMISSION GOES #TOTHEPOWEROFMOM

"Momma on a Mission will always be at the root of my identity as a mom. Whether it's finding a way to get to the grocery store with two sick kids or competing at a national swim meet, I feel like I'm always on a mission. But I'm not alone in that. Moms everywhere are faced with challenges that can feel unmanageable, and more often than not, lonely. I want all moms to feel supported in whatever goals they think about pursuing. I want all moms to know that being a mom isn't a limitation, it's a power, and the power multiplies infinitely when we join together." -Vollmer

SPEAKING PARTNERS

"Dana was fantastic. Her message of overcoming her fears and using what many view as a weakness as her guiding strength for her own success not only resonated with the adults in the room, but also the girls."

-Katherine Curtis, CFRE, Girl Scouts
